FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

'Enlightening' New Product for Cane Users

Buena Park, CA - February 24, 2011 - For seniors and others, walking with assistance is difficult enough, but nighttime and low light conditions present even more challenges. Now there's something that banishes the dark for cane users!

Sky Med, a southern California company, is a leading home medical equipment innovator, creating new products for the industry that offer value-added features and new takes on traditional products. One of their latest developments is the SureStep Tip, an easily installed cane tip that casts a pool of soft light around the base of the cane, and makes walking at night or in low light conditions much safer for seniors and the disabled.

This high quality, water proof base can be added to most standard 7/8" walking canes, allowing the user to upgrade their existing product with minimal expense. Installation is simple and requires no tools, and the battery compartment opens easily with a coin for replacement. SureStep uses standard AAA batteries, and the wider base allows the cane to stand on its own as well.

SureStep is always ready to lead the way, with an automatic light sensor that triggers at 10 lux, or twilight conditions. The tip is lighted by four energy efficient LED bulbs, and the cane automatically powers off when not in use. This new home health aid is perfect for walking at night, getting safely to bed, and more.

Sky Med specializes in the development and manufacturing of safe, high quality and cost-effective products for the health care industry, and its products are used in hospitals and homes, by health care professionals and family caregivers. Emma Lai, National Sales Manager at Sky Med, heads up a talented, diverse and energetic team dedicated to using their extensive experience to serve the health care equipment field. Said Lai, "We realize that the needs of every industry client and end-user are unique, and we take time to examine the information relevant to those needs in developing the right product for each application."

Sky Med products and innovations can be seen at Medtrade Las Vegas, April 13-14, 2011, at booth 2031.
